Railroads Reject Plan For Leasing Equipment

By ROBERT A. MCGILL
International News Service Staff

WASHINGTON, July 19.—President Roosevelt's $3,460,000,000 self-liquidating loan program faced further revision by the senate banking committee today after the railroad industry rejected plans for leasing equipment from the government.

The president's plan that the government purchase and lease $500,000,000 worth of equipment was turned down before the committee by J. J. Pelley, president, Association of American Railroads.

Declaring that few railroads would make use of the plan to lease equipment, Pelley proposed that the bill be amended to provide a similar amount of loans to the carriers at low interest rates for the purchase of equipment.

Pelley said that under the leasing program there would be conflict between the carriers and the government regarding the type of equipment to be used, and that should the loans be made directly the money would bring a greater return in employment and business increases.

Suicide Of Actress Climax Of Gay Week-End Party At California Nudist Camp

(International News Service)

HOLLYWOOD, July 19.—A gay week-end party at a nudist camp had been climaxed today in death by suicide for Dawn Hope Noel, 23-year-old film actress, whose mother, the late Adele Hope, former Broadway stage star, also killed herself.

Mrs. Noel, wife of Jimmy Noel, popular orchestra leader, shot herself through the temple with a small caliber rifle after a quarrel with her husband in their North Hollywood home late yesterday.

Her mother died of a self-inflicted bullet wound on the grounds of the Westchester Country Club at Port Chester, N. Y., September 14, 1936, and ironically, it was Dawn who found her mother's body.

Mrs. Noel's suicide took place, police said, as her husband was engaged in a telephone conversation with a man he named as Ray Huber, a member of a party of four which had spent Sunday and part of Monday at the Rancho Glasse Nudist Camp in the hills behind Hollywood.

HARRISBURG, July 19.—A full investigation by the state department of justice into the slaying of Joan Stevens, 14-year-old Carbon county schoolgirl, by a state motor policeman, was promised the girl's bereaved mother today by Attorney General Claude T. Reno.

Weeping as she left the attorney general's office after a one-hour conference with Reno, Mrs. John Stevens said she had asked him, as she had Gov. Arthur H. James the day before, to institute an investigation of the case and of the state police, whom she bitterly condemned.

Mrs. Stevens, who was accompanied by another daughter, Rita, 18, said the attorney general promised to confer on the matter with her attorney, James McCready, and had "positively promised" that he would do something for me.

Mrs. Stevens quoted Reno as having told her "he did not understand the case until she explained everything to him."

"I have no children of my own, but I can understand your trouble," she quoted him as saying, adding: "He treated me wonderfully."

WASHINGTON, July 19.—President Roosevelt today after its Democratic and Republican leadership convinced President Roosevelt his fight for neutrality law revision to permit sale of American arms to warring nations abroad, must be postponed until next year.

Fighting to the last, the president announced this decision robbed him of the available weapon to deter totalitarian nations from aggression. The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

REMOVING FEARS OF TIMID YOUTH

"Dear Dr. Myers—I am a boy 18 years of age and a junior in high school. I have a bad case of timidity which I wish to consult you about. In the last four years fear has taken a terrible grip on me, and many things which I found were very easy to do years ago, I find very hard to do today. Self-push is altogether lacking in me. I have read books on psychology in order that I might find means of overcoming fear, but this has done no good whatever. At times I become completely discouraged and think that I might as well give up the task. The thing I find hardest of all is getting a girl."

My answer to him was about like this: "I think I understand your worries for I was 18 once. You have a great advantage over me, or what I was then; you express yourself clearly and forcefully. My fears used to keep me from saying even on paper what I wanted to say. I wish you would cultivate your writing ability."

Part Of Problem

"Your timidity about girls is a part of your whole problem. You have been thinking too much about yourself. You introspect too much. You need to turn your interests and efforts outward from yourself, especially toward other persons and what other persons like. Drag yourself out into the company of others. Rarely be alone during leisure hours. If at all possible, learn the social skills the rest of your pals engage in. If you could get into some athletic activity, that might help."

"When you are with others, don't feel you must talk much. Talk only when you have something to say; be a good listener. When others speak make them feel you are more interested in them than in yourself. After you go home and begin to think about an evening with others, don't allow yourself to fret about your failures; think only of your successes."

One thing more: Learn to tell some good stories. Practice first while alone, a few until you have them well in hand. Read science and history and biography and see funny shows. Follow the comic strips and try to get several good laughs every day.

Solving Parent Problems
Q. Some writers say it is better to use a switch than to spank the child on the bottom. That spanking might, from the jar, injure the child's spine. What do you say about it?

A. An occasional small child might be jarred by a spanking if he were alone, but when the child is with the parent, the child is not alone. For good and safe spanking of the tot, bare his bottom and apply several smacks low on his fat thighs with the bare flat palm. It's the "burning" surface smacks that safely do the trick. A spank, to be effective, should immediately follow the forbidden act. If you need the switch, you may have to look all over the house for it, delaying the punishment. But the palms, like the poor, are always with you. Then the switch might cut the flesh, causing an infection. Have you known of infection from a good-fashioned spanking? Page Grandma.

"WORMS FOR SALE"

While after mile on fence and rail I notice this slogan: "Worms for Sale!"

Worms, for fishermen outward bound

Where bass and pickerel may be found!

Worms by the dozen or quart or pound!

Worms, fresh out of the rain-soaked ground!

Worms, slender and fat, alive and sound!

Worms which easily can't be drowned!

Worms which will tempt 'em for miles around!

Hearty and hale

Worms for sale!

Now I suppose they're as fat and big

As the worms I rose at the dawn to dig.

And I suppose that the worms man buys

Look just the same to a pickerel's eyes;

The self-same pinkness and form and size.

And are just as good for the self-same lies

Of the monster lost or the captured prize.

But wasn't it part of the sport to rise

In the days long flown

To dig our own?

"Worms for Sale." I notice the sign

And reflect that always I dug for mine!

ENGINEERS TO SOLVE UNEMPLOYMENT?

FORMER President Herbert Hoover has suggested that the engineers of the nation might succeed where economists, politicians and sociologists have failed in finding a solution to the unemployment problem.

Declaring that the problem of employing America's 11,000,000 jobless is a vital emergency job for the objective minds of the engineers, he said: "Your profession is to make things work." He suggested that the real cause of unemployment "lies in the emotional field." "Ours is a system of voluntary action on the part of individual human beings," he said. "Voluntary action is dominated by the emotions of confidence in the future or of uncertainty and fear."

Since the number of unemployed has seldom been less than 11,000,000 during the past nine years, it appears that the politicians, the sociologists and the economists have fallen down on their job. Engineers, according to Hoover who is a mining engineer, are the trouble-shooters of the world—the diagnosticians of industry and the third party between capital and labor. Upon them, it seems, does rest a responsibility to apply the principles and techniques of engineering to this vital emergency problem.

Perhaps the others seeking an answer to the situation have been blinded by prejudices, emotions or habits which must be disregarded if the problem is to be solved. Engineers would apply the scientific principle of truth and would be less influenced by extraneous factors.

THE FIRST NAME HABIT

The word "Mister" is not so often spoken now, while "Bill," "Jim," "Tom," etc., are more frequently heard. It is becoming customary to a far greater extent than formerly to call people by their first names. President Roosevelt has lent his example to this custom, and calls many of the statesmen, politicians, and newspaper men by their first names.

Formerly you might live in a city most of your life, but if you did not grow up there, hardly anyone might call you by the first name. Now it has become the custom in many clubs and organizations to use the first name, and the habit spreads. Some folks who cling to formal ways think it is too familiar. They are a bit jarred when some youngster whom they met only a few weeks before begins to salute them thus familiarly. They will probably get used to it soon and like it.

The old use of "Mister" for everyone was fitting enough in a day when people lived individual lives in their own little sets, and did not mix much with the general run of people.

When you go down town and people say "Hello George," or "Hi there, Harry," or whatever your name is, it makes one feel at home, and that he lives in a community where his presence is valued. Thus the people are drawn closer together. The habit spreads also among the women, and they too value this sign of a greater intimacy and closer association than used to exist in most towns.

OVERCROWDED PRISONS IN STATE

Secretary of Welfare E. Arthur Sweeney made a statement the other day that unemployment and "marauding gangs of youngsters" are the two principal reasons for the overcrowding of Pennsylvania's two penitentiaries, with the result that new records have been set in the 129-year population record of these institutions.

Mr. Sweeney also said in this connection that "while criminals will always be with us, we are charged with the responsibility of safely keeping law breakers and also with making efforts to rehabilitate the rehabilitative, deprecate the fact that many of the prisoners admitted since the beginning of this year are youths."

Secretary Sweeney suggests that "much youthful delinquency can be eliminated through religious worship, better home environment and more attention by parents to their children's friends and whereabouts."

He might have written a lengthy treatise on this deplorable and pathetic problem without coming closer to the heart of it. The fact is increasingly apparent that today's younger generation is as morally sound and as capable of assuming responsibilities as any in the past. Its shortcomings such as Secretary Sweeney cites are directly traceable to the failures of its elders. Healthy home environment, religious training, friendly interest and considerate supervision suggest themselves as answers. Unless we meet the challenge we must continue to stand indicted.

TOUGH ON THE ARSONIST

Times are getting tougher for that most depicable of criminals, the arsonist—due to the splendid work of fire insurance organizations, of police departments, of prosecuting authorities and of the courts.

As a report of the Committee on Incendiarism and Arson of the National Board of Fire Underwriters observes, "The past year has been one of continued activity and success as shown by the number of investigations made and the activity of public authorities in making arrests and prosecutions." After many years of constant work, a system finally has been developed which makes the professional fire-bug's chance of escape from detection extremely low.

The records of the National Board, covering cases in which their agents participated, show a steady increase in the percentage of convictions following arrests and, generally speaking, a decline in the percentage of acquittals. This means that greater care is being taken in gathering evidence, and greater zeal is being shown by prosecutors—to the end that the arsonist finds fewer legal loopholes which once made it relatively easy for him to escape the just punishment for his crime.

Of tremendous importance is the success achieved in breaking up the "arson rings" which periodically operate about the country. Under the ring system, arson is a business. Some rings have operated for years, and have defrauded insurance companies and others of fortunes. The arson fighters have paid special attention to these criminals, and the result is that scores of them are now behind bars, serving long sentences. The war against arson should have unanimous public support. The "torch" deserves no sympathy. He does deserve the severest possible punishment.

Nowadays man doesn't hear so much about the "work-a-day world as he does about the 44-hour-week one."

Go back twenty years and see how few automobiles, secretaries and telephones were in use in Public offices in this county—and more work was done then than now.

THEN THE EDITOR LEFT TOWN

An exchange tells of an editor, preparing for a sudden and permanent disappearance to an unnamed destination, who fulfilled a hitherto frustrated desire to write up the whole truth and nothing but the truth was told. It was a surprised list of subscribers who read the following report of the wedding of two well known people in a certain little community:

"Jim Gateway and Miss Georgianna Bentlow were married Monday at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Bentlow, the Rev. M. Deckert officiating."

"The groom is a popular young man who hasn't done a lick of work since he got expelled in his junior year at college. He manages to dress well and keeps a supply of spending money because his dad is a soft-hearted old fool who takes up his scalawag son's bad checks instead of letting him go to jail where he belongs."

"The bride is a skinny, fast little idiot, who has been run after by every boy in town since she was twelve years old. She paints like a Sioux Indian, smokes cigarettes, and drinks mean corn liquor when she is out joy-riding in her dad's car at night. She doesn't know how to cook, sew or keep house."

"The house was newly plastered for the wedding and the exterior newly painted, thus appropriately carrying out the decorative scheme for the groom was newly plastered and the bride newly painted."

"The groom wore a rented dinner suit over athletic underwear of imitation silk and his pants were held up by pale green suspenders. His number nine patent leather shoes matched his state in tightness and harmonized nicely with the axle grease polish which kept his hair down."

"In addition to his fag he carried a pocket knife, a bunch of keys, a dun for the ring and his usual look of imbecility."

What's What At A Glance

Liberals Versus Conservatives
Lineup May Result From Election
Suppositions Are Being Discussed

By CHARLES P. STEWART

Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, July 19.—Some Democrats are as liberal as some Republicans. Some Democrats are as conservative as some Republicans.

Next year's presidential nominations may align liberals and conservatives against one another. Then again, they may not. Suppose Franklin D. Roosevelt is named once more on the Democratic ticket and that Senator Taft, for instance, is named on the Republican.

That unquestionably would be interpreted as implying a liberal Democracy versus a conservative G. O. P. But suppose the Democrats pick John N. Garner and the Republicans Floriola H. La Guardia. The Republicans won't do it. La Guardia is an American Labor party mayor. Still, he's served in congress as a Republican (as a Socialist, too, for that matter). And he's mentioned by ultra-liberal Republicans as a suitability. That would mean a very conservative Democracy against a rip-roaring radical Republicanism.

But suppose both parties compromise. Suppose the Democrats hit on State Secretary Hull and that the Republicans hit on Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg—the former a moderate Democrat and the latter a moderate Republican; both extremely enlightened statesmen. The situation wouldn't be a bit clarified.

Old Line Wiped Out

There used to be a difference between Democrats and Republicans. The Democrats were states-rightsers and, more or less, free-traders; the Republicans were nationalists and high-tariffites.

These distinctions are quite wiped out now. A high-tariff nationalist is liable to be in effect, a Democrat if he's a New Dealer. A free-trading states-rights-er is equally likely to be, for all intents and purposes, a Republican—if he's agin the New Deal.

They're not yet fully reclassified. The division is four ways.

It's difficult, if not impossible, to make two cohesively opposing groups out of a quadrangle of violently opposing groups.

Roughly speaking, we have today two parties—New Dealers and Old Dealers. But the New Dealers are split between Democrats and Republicans; the Old Dealers are split between Democrats and Democrats.

Democracy and Republicanism likewise are split, each of them, between New and Old Dealers.

Oh, what a jumble!

But Candidates?

As to candidates?

Will Roosevelt run again? Nobody knows, except himself. Perhaps he doesn't. Surmise that he prefers not to?

For awhile it was taken for granted that Harry Hopkins was his first choice as his successor, but Harry's health has gone floozy. Interior Secretary Ickes was temporarily conspicuous, but he hasn't registered effectively. Neither have Agriculture Secretary Wallace, Attorney General Murphy or Solicitor General Jackson.

Butting General Farley is recognized as a good enough politician to get himself nominated, maybe, but many doubts are expressed that he has the caliber to be elected.

Senator Stark of Missouri is too young politically to get into the running.

Senator Barkley is suggested, but only locally in Kentucky. Senators Clark and Harrison are "favorite sons" and the administration would sting 'em, anyway.

Funny as it may seem, Paul McNutt looks like a fair bet—if F. D. chooses not to run again.

This leaves Senator Wheeler out of consideration. Wheeler certainly would be a weird compromise. No statesman ever was more radical than he was. Yet he's been vehemently anti-New Dealerish. The New Deal surely would turn thumbs down on him. Yet conservatism—which once considered him an out-and-out bolshevik—might deem him one of its own.

Republican Candidates?

The Republicans haven't any such wealth of candidates.

Dewey? Nobody knows much about him—except he has a nice tenor voice and is a good local prosecutor.

Vandenberg? He'd be my selection.

Hoover? He's beginning to be talked about. As a spell-binder he's doing well, but he's not an "elder statesman."

I haven't heard Landon much boosted for—but he's referred to.

Mr. McNutt Is No Boob

WASHINGTON, July 19.

NOW that there has been more than a week of speculation concerning the appointment as Federal Security Administrator of Mr. Paul McNutt, the white-crested, ebullient Indian who is our most open, ardent and eager aspirant for the 1940 Democratic Presidential nomination, it is interesting to note the conclusions to which the practical politicians have come.

WITH almost complete unanimity, they agree that there are but two logical deductions. One is that if Mr. Roosevelt succeeds in controlling the convention, which he probably will, and is not a candidate himself, he will nominate Mr. McNutt for the Presidency. The other is that if he nominates himself for the third time, Mr. McNutt will be his choice for the Vice-Presidency.

Their convictions as to these things are not shaken by the testy press conference denials of the President—first that there was any politics in the appointment; second, that politics had been ever remotely mentioned between him and Mr. McNutt; third, that it was agreed between them that Mr. McNutt need not slack his campaign after delegates.

STH denies they regard as an essential, well-understood and entirely legitimate piece of Presidential mendacity. Cross-examined by reporters, they ask what could he do but deny? Certainly, it is said, he cannot be expected to admit it. Under such circumstances, denials from high public officials are a necessary protective gesture, which by no means implies the denying of an official untruthfulness in the ordinary sense of the word. Nevertheless, considering the openness of Mr. McNutt's candidacy, the money already spent in promoting him and his complete control of the delegate-selecting organization in his State—considering these things, along with the McNutt statement that he will let the President decide, only the simple mind would be so stupid as to believe that he did not touch on politics generally and their own political positions particularly.

IT is really ridiculous so to contend. Certainly Mr. McNutt would have to be a boob, indeed, to have sat for two hours with the President and accepted from him so important a post, without obtaining some sort of clarifying statement and some sort of reassurance from Mr. Roosevelt on the subject uppermost in the minds of both—to wit, the 1940 Presidential situation. Mr. McNutt may be a great many things, but he is not a political boob. To have done that he would have to be a complete one. To ask anyone to believe that he did not hear some exceedingly satisfactory remarks on the matter of his own avowed ambitions before permitting himself to be taken wholly into the New Deal camp is asking a lot too much.

THAT GALLUP POLLO

It will be a long time yet the political polls of the late lamented Literary Digest will be forgotten, but those who like straw votes now have to look to the Gallup poll. George Gallup who conducts this poll employs about seven hundred people in these United States in gathering the information necessary for him to count the pulse beats of the Nation.

Gallup was educated in the University of Iowa. His classmates in the University never could understand why he was taking the crazy courses in the University that he did. George wanted to be a newspaper man, but he didn't fool around with "journalism." He was always studying mass psychology and the reactions of citizens. He studied economics and political trends and population curves.

Gallup conducts a very thorough-going poll and from week to week you can see the result of the poll in the newspapers of the country. He can pretty nearly tell you whether or not Mr. Roosevelt will be nominated at the next Democratic National Convention, and he can pretty nearly tell you who will be nominated, or at least he will come pretty close to it within the next year.

In fact it has come to the point where the Electoral College will have to go to Gallup to find out who will be the next President.

George Dean Enters Commissioner Race

GEORGE DEAN

George Dean, present Deputy Sheriff, today announces his intention of seeking the Republican nomination for County Commissioner of Lawrence County. Mr. Dean is well known throughout Lawrence County because of his activity in Grange matters. His statement follows:

The Legislature of the State of Pennsylvania has seen fit to enact legislation abating certain penalties upon the payment of delinquent taxes. This action has resulted in the payment of an unprecedented amount of delinquent taxes to the County. The State has also taken over, to a large extent, the relief burden formerly carried by the County. Hence, with more money coming in and less burdens to carry, the County finds itself with a large cash balance in the bank. My experience as a School Director for a number of years causes me to question the advisability of maintaining such a balance, especially when property owners, like myself, find taxes such a burden. In my opinion a budget should be prepared, showing the smallest amount necessary for carrying on the County Government for the year, and taxes should be levied on this basis and not for the building up of any surplus.

In addition to bringing taxes to the lowest possible level, taxes should be uniformly distributed and toward this end I feel that the County Commissioners should extend every effort to bring about an equalization of assessments in order that none may suffer unjustly. My entire life has been spent in Slippery Rock Township where I obtained my education at the Shaw School and the Princeton High School. It is in this Township that I now reside with my wife, Bessie Book Dean, and our family.

All of my life I have worked hard and I think I know the value of a dollar. If elected it will be my sole purpose to safeguard the County's dollars as I would my own.

GEORGE DEAN.

OF course he did. And it is just as certain that in his turn he made comments of a political nature equally gratifying to the party of the second part of that two-hour conference. As things stand, Mr. McNutt has been signally honored by the President with one of the half dozen most important posts in the Administration—a position which practically makes him a member of the Cabinet and presents an extraordinary opportunity to enhance his reputation, extend his influence and promote his candidacy—an opportunity which he could not have gotten in any other way. It was a notable mark of Presidential confidence which brands him as a "forward looking man" and a "true liberal," thoroughly acceptable to Mr. Roosevelt, personally and politically.

IT is impossible to avoid that interpretation. What he has been given amounts to a White House blessing. Mr. McNutt, who correctly reasons that he cannot be nominated for either place on the ticket without Roosevelt support, can be counted upon to make the most of his new opportunities. There is just one factor that may prevent things working out as smoothly in the convention for Mr. McNutt as his delighted friends anticipate, and that is the extent to which Mr. James A. Farley has been made a party to the arrangement. If Mr. Farley has gotten over his distastes for Mr. McNutt and acquiesces in the McNutt idea, then there will be no trouble at all. But if Mr. Farley, realizing, as he must, what the McNutt nomination for either place does to him, balks—then there would be trouble, indeed. Then it could not be done. Because Mr. Farley, so far as delegate control is concerned, will be the key man in that convention—and Mr. Farley knows it very well.

Make Retirement Of Teachers At 62 Optional Matter

Boards Will Have Authority To Retire Teachers At Younger Age

HARRISBURG, July 19.—The Department of Public Instruction today said modifications of the teachers' retirement law, which were enacted by the 1939 General Assembly, constitute a step in the direction of earlier retirement of teachers.

While the amendments do not change the seventy-year compulsory retirement age, they do authorize school boards to release teachers before they become seventy. This authority is optional with the school board.

Heretofore only teachers enjoyed the privilege of the option to retire at any time they chose after age sixty-two, and before age seventy. With the new amendments in effect school boards enjoy a similar option to require the retirement of teachers after sixty-two years of age.

This authority is to be exercised gradually over a period of years. Until July 1, 1941, school boards may terminate the contracts of only such teachers as have reached sixty-eight years. After July, 1943, they may retire teachers who have reached sixty-six years of age, after 1945, teachers who have become sixty-four; and after 1947, teachers who are sixty-two.

Widowed Mother Fights Death As Shooting Result

Assailant In Same Hospital Also Battling Death From Gun Wound

(International News Service)
BURLINGTON, Vt., July 18.—Fleeing her assailant and taunting him to pump more bullets into her body because she was "not dead yet," a widowed mother of five children and her jealous suitor fought death today in the same hospital.

The shooting started, according to police, when Mrs. Viola Myers, 34, quarreled with Edward Shappey, 45, a boarder in her home, over visits of her cousin, Val Gelinas, of Lenox, Mass.

Fleeing to the home of a neighbor after Shappey wounded her with a shot from a .22 calibre revolver, Mrs. Myers was felled by a second shot.

"I'm not dead yet," she taunted Shappey and he sent two more bullets into her head.

Shappey fled and was found a short time later with a bullet wound in his temple.

"But one couple can be chosen," Shoaf pointed out. "Furniture and other gifts can be provided for just one."

Do You Remember?

Compiled And Presented For Publication In The News By Fred B. Sankey, President Of Old Timers'
Day Association

Old Timers Day Cascade Park, Wednesday, August 16, 1939.

Thomas Campbell came to New Castle in 1841, and started a hotel, the Campbell House, on Washington street, on the site of the present Knox building. David I. Campbell, and his twin sister Mary Ann (later Mrs. Mary Ann Whitcraft), children of Thomas Campbell were only eight years of age when they arrived here. David I. Campbell had a jewelry store on the site of the Citizens bank, served two years in council, was elected prothonotary and clerk of courts two terms, and was one of the founders of the Old Timers association.

Ralph M. Campbell started as a clerk in his father's office, and continued in that office until he was elected prothonotary in 1930, and at the time of his death had a record of fifty years service at the court house. David I. Campbell was the father of Joseph T. Campbell who has had a record of thirty-nine years service with the local gas company, and of John F. Campbell of Chicago.

Philip Wagner born here in 1843 was in the flour and feed business in the Wagner block on Mercer street for over 60 years. He was a sergeant in Co. H 100th Penna. Veteran Volunteers in the Civil war, and was wounded in the service June 9, 1862. He was the father of Clair R. Wagner, Clifford C. Wagner, and Thomas Burton Wagner.

John Douds came here in 1844. His son Perry Douds, was the father of Frank C. Douds and Smith H. Douds, who started the Douds machine shop in the old Love woolen mill which stood on the Neshannock river in 1880, which was later removed to its present location on Mill street in 1885. Frank C. Douds is probably the best posted man in New Castle as to old history from personal memory.

David Morris came to America in 1800, and later settled in Crawford county. He was a volunteer soldier in the war of 1812 and proud of his Welsh ancestry. His son Levi L.

ing of readings and songs by a group of children. She had arranged an exhibit of dolls, dressed in costumes representing the different countries in foreign lands, with buildings and scenery of each country represented.

The August meeting will be in charge of Mrs. Joseph Clark and Mrs. Mary Adams.

Oklahoma Escaped Convict Captured

Jack Russell, Desperado, Once More In Clutches Of John Law

(International News Service)
OZARK, Ark., July 19.—Jack Russell, widely sought Oklahoma convict, was captured Tuesday 18 miles north of Ozark by Sheriff Champ Crawford of Franklin county and Constable Richard Hill, who posed as fishermen and gradually worked their way upstream to nab the unsuspecting convict. The officers said Russell admitted his identity. Sheriff Crawford revealed that he was tipped off that a suspicious character had driven into a tourist camp on Mulberry Creek, north of Ozark.

Calling Constable Hill, the sheriff donned fisherman's garb, and with reel and tackle, and Hill as his companion started fishing in the creek, gradually working their way up to the camp. "Russell's car was parked just above me and I noticed his gas tank was leaking," Sheriff Crawford told International News Service. "So I called to the fellow and told him of the leak. He came over to the car to move it and I pulled my gun on him. That was all there was to it."

Because we think you'll be thrilled to discover how much "big-car" performance, comfort and roominess Ford offers in a low-price car.

We think you'll be amazed at the way this Ford car saves money on gasoline and oil . . . at the smooth, sure, straight-line stops that those big hydraulic brakes give you.

We think you will be pleased to discover how much "extra" equipment is included in the low Ford price (it makes quite a difference, when you figure it out!).

Stop in today, at your nearest Ford dealer's showroom. Ask him to give you the keys to a new Ford V-8. Then get in and take the wheel. Make your own "traffic test." Drive this car out on the open road. It will open your eyes.

Girls Leaving Camp On Friday

Program For Parents On Friday Will Begin
Promptly At 6 P. M.

NEW CROWD WILL FILL CAMP MONDAY

Taps for the camping season will be sounded Friday night of this week for a half hundred young girls at Camp East Brook of the Y. W. C. A. A new crowd will take over the camp on Monday to begin the last of three periods set aside by the "Y" for the campers.

Miss Marguerite D. White, executive secretary of the "Y," said today that a program is being planned for the parents who call for their daughters at East Brook on Friday evening and will be presented promptly at 6 o'clock in order to be over before dark. The girls will be ready to leave at 8 p. m. Campers are to have supper at 5 p. m., but as there are no accommodations for additional numbers, parents cannot be served. The program at 6 will include square dancing on the lawn, music by a toy orchestra, a puppet show and, at 7, a swimming demonstration.

Today the girls had a gypsy hike, and you can ask them what that is. It has to do with walking until you are tired, then reading a story until well rested, and then walking until you are tired again. Lots of fun, if you can like it. The swim at 4 is always invigorating. Every day before rest hour, the camp nurse answers questions about health problems, a new and helpful feature. Last night the East Brookers had an "information please" program indoors.

Monday, the international night dinner was a big success. Each cabin, representing a nation, took part with cabin counselor and cabin council representative in charge. The name of each group, the counselor and council member follows: United States, Nettie Mann, Dotie Wallace; England, Ann O'Hara, Sondra Hamilton; Sweden, Evelyn Sleightholm, Joan Miller; Scotland, Daris Phillips, Midge Williams; Irish, Cornell Arbogast, Jean Meyer;

Red Cross Is Making Ready For Disasters

Complete Program Of Disaster
Preparedness Is Made By
Chairman Paul F. Butz

Paul F. Butz, chairman of the Disaster Preparedness Program of the Lawrence County Chapter of the American Red Cross, is now working on the complete disaster preparedness program of the chapter for the coming year.

Mr. Butz has named his sub-chairman and will have a very strong organization which will be at the call of the local chapter in any emergency. Mr. Butz, in talking about his committee stated, "no chapter desires to think of impending disaster but it has been distinctly brought out in the minds of all of us that no community can be certain of exemption from disaster. The New England States did not believe it was possible for them to have a hurricane. We all know what happened a year ago in September."

As a preparatory step in the Disaster Institute, which will be conducted on September 6, by Maurice Reddy, national director of the disaster staff, Mr. Butz has invited Miss Thyrja Jane Fulton, of the national disaster staff, to be the guest speaker of the Lawrence County Chapter on Wednesday, August 2. Miss Fulton has had years of disaster experience, is a trained case worker and is at present the executive secretary of the Home Service Department of the Erie Chapter of the American Red Cross. Miss Fulton has worked with Mr. Reddy on disasters and was an area director in the New England disaster last year. Further details of this will be announced in the near future.

Life Saving Class Organized At Scout Camp John Phillips

Visitors' Night Tonight At Camp; Bessemer Parents
Plan Program

(Special To The News)

CAMP JOHN M. PHILLIPS, July 19.—In order to promote the idea of safety in water activities, a life saving class has been organized at the Boy Scout camp this week. There are 15 enrolled in the class this far. Based upon the scout methods and requirements a full and complete course is given each scout enrolled in the course. Cabins one and two were awarded the banner for this week. Both of these cabins are occupied by scouts from the New Brighton council.

Pioneering and handicraft merit badges are being studied and passed by a number of the boys in camp this week. Awards for these badges will undoubtedly be made at the usual camp Court of Honor.

The boys in camp have scheduled several mushball games with the Mush Run Indians and Fairview teams.

Tonight will be visitors night at the camp. Any parents and friends of the scouts will be welcomed at the camp and a special program of the scouts is being worked out. Parents of the scouts from Bessemer plan a little celebration.

These parents will bring picnic baskets and have a meal in the scout mess hall, with the boys tonight. By having parents night, it will afford any interested persons an opportunity to view this fine local camp.

It was learned today that Rev. J. Calvin Rose has been secured to deliver the sermon at the Sunday night vesper services at the Indian Village.

walls and ceiling in two-tone, lending a restful note to the job. Perhaps the biggest change in the building was performed in the private office of Miss Alice Sterling, librarian.

A colorful plastic finish was placed on the walls in this office by the library custodian, L. F. Wadlinger.

At the present time the workmen are engaged in the reading room. They are washing the walls here, in preparation for a new coat of paint. Walls in the large stock room on the first floor were also improved with a paint job.

On The Quintuplets And The Care Of Your Children

OVERFEEDING INFANT IN HOT WEATHER MAY LEAD TO STOMACH UPSET

Some time ago, in discussing breast feeding, we mentioned the danger of weaning a baby in the hot weather. I would like to emphasize this matter again. No mother should wean her baby during July or August. If the nine-month period during which children are usually kept on the breast terminates in July, then the mother should wean in June. If it falls in August, then she should wait until September. This is an important point because a breast-fed baby is apt to have trouble enough when he is weaned and placed on other feedings without having the complication of hot weather to contend with as well.

Of course the chief fear of mothers for babies in hot weather is summer diarrhea. And it isn't an idle fear either, for I've seen too many babies die of it to take the complaint lightly.

Diarrhea occurring during the hot weather fall into two definite types, both completely preventable. To that extent we can calm the fears of mothers.

The cause of the first and milder type of diarrhea is over feeding. As I explained yesterday, in hot weather the baby loses his appetite, just as you do, and his feedings should be cut down. As a matter of fact, he will likely refuse food himself, for he knows what he wants often better than the parents do. But some parents refuse to let the baby cut down on his food. They force him to eat and the result is either diarrhea or vomiting—sometimes both.

Unfortunately the balance of water in a baby's system isn't as stable as in an adult's. That is, the baby reacts unfavorably to loss of water much more quickly than an adult does. A baby who is both vomiting and suffering from diarrhea at the same time is losing a great deal more water than he can afford. In the early stages of this trouble, the baby responds quickly if there is a reduction in the amount of food taken. But if you wait a few days after the symptoms appear, they cannot be removed by such simple methods.

When this happens, the treatment is fairly strenuous if the child is going to be saved. The acid stools are very irritating to the baby's skin and frequently he will develop a rash on the buttocks which will not go away until the complaint is cleared up.

As I have said, it is very easy to guard against this disease, but it is very hard to cure it once it has gotten a firm hold in your child's system. If you mothers will remember that your babies cannot eat as much food in warm weather as they do when it is cold, if you keep this in mind, you aren't likely to have any trouble. The best thing to do, however, is get the advice of your doctor on the whole question of baby's diet in warm weather.

I remember the trouble we had with the Quintuplets that first summer. Born a couple of days before the end of May, they were so feeble they needed all the food we could give them to keep up their strength. Yet we had to be so careful not to overfeed when the weather was hot for fear they might contract diarrhea.

Ellwood City voters have presented a petition to the county commissioners, asking that registrations be held in the borough. The commissioners have fixed July 28th and 29th as registration days and Registration Clerk, Thomas Edmunds, is putting up notices. Any district can have registration days by presenting a petition, signed by 100 citizens. It is not expected that many districts will ask for them.

Pirate Homers Fail To Upset Phils Tuesday

Klein, Fletcher And Bell Pound Homers, But Pirates Lose 8 To 3

ATLEY DONALD WINS ELEVENTH

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, July 19.—There may be room for argument about the rookie catcher, infielder or outfielder of the year but there shouldn't be any about the No. 1 rookie pitcher. He is Atley Donald of the Yankees. He has given up only 89 hits this year and that's pretty fair pitching in any league. He didn't need any more help than he got from Joe Gordon's 15th homer to win the first half of yesterday's doubleheader, 3 to 0, because he gave the Browns only three hits.

Oral Hildebrand was almost as effective in the second game. He gave only one hit until the ninth when a single and McQuinn's homer put the Browns within one run of a tie and called for some relief by Fireman Murphy. Even so, the Browns got only three hits all told in this one and lost, 4-3.

Indians Win Game
Homers by Auker, Fox and Williams helped the Sox take the opener, 13-10 but they dropped the nightcap, 8-5.

Krakauskas gave only six hits as the Senators manhandled the Tigers, 10 to 2 and in a night game at Cleveland Rookie Joe Dobson as relief pitcher won for the Indians 6 to 3, over the Philadelphia Athletics.

The Cubs, for instance, moved up to second place by winning yesterday but they would have dropped to fifth had they lost. They beat the Dodgers, 4-2.

The Cards took the ill-fated Giants for the third straight time, 5-3.

The Phils, who have been going pretty good lately, knocked off the Pirates, 8-3, despite Pirate homers by Bell, Klein and Fletcher. And the Reds enjoyed a field day in Boston as they pounded out 19 hits for a 12-3 decision over the Bees.

With the Trades & Labor Assembly as the sponsor of the Jefferson A. C. boxing show next Monday night, fans may rest assured that when they travel into The Arena they will see one of the "bangiest of bang-bangs" possible to witness.

Consistent winners, a Diamond Belt champion and boys who can sock like dynamite have been carded and when the Evening's Evenin' is over, fans will be satisfied and the T. & L. Assembly rooms will have been furnished.

The Trades & Labor Assembly asked that the show be staged in order that the organization could raise sufficient funds to help the needy and now that this has been done, they're awaiting the support of fandom.

In the main battle Sparkey Jarosick, of Cecil, winner over Mickey Rubin of this city, will tackle Frankie Columbo, the 175-pound champion of Salem College, which is in Ohio.

Sammy Secrete, the Diamond Belt champion of Pittsburgh, will tackle Steve Kowalik who beat Ted Delarado and who will be handled again by "Buck" Bradshaw, formerly of this city. This ought to be a "bearish" scrap.

Billy Reale To Box
The Irishman Regis O'Brien is coming back to take on Pete Spott, who gave a fistic lesson to Andy Werz some time ago. O'Brien beat Charlie Arkett in his last bout here and wrote today he expects to beat Spott.

Frankie Pettit knocked out Jack Sawyer here and hopes to do likewise to Howard Taylor, of Cecil. However, the Cecil fistic family has other ideas and Pettit will have to go some to turn the trick. Taylor's trainer asserts.

Ray Atkinson, a former star of Ellwood City, launched a come-back attempt recently when he beat Steve Teever, National A. A. U. champion, at Conneaut Lake. Teever's eye was cut and the referee halted the show.

When the bell sounds Monday Atkinson will go against Garfield Thompson, of Cecil, and Billy Reale, one of the best punchers in this section, will box Al Starevecic, of Youngstown.

The Butler terror, Larry Regal, has been engaged to take on Terry Jackson, of Youngstown. Fans like Regal, Mickie Sica, of New York City, will fight Pete Misto, of Youngstown, in another of the eight bouts.

Rambling Around World Of Sports

Hot off the wire—Your column engineer was informed today that Henry Marshall, Hillsville's sensational diamond star, who has been patrolling left field for the Erie Sailors in major league fashion, is slated for the American Association which is next door to the big show. The informant stated that the 23-year-old speed demon may be wearing an Indianapolis Indian uniform soon. A gander at Marshall's record during the present season is self explanatory. To date, his batting average is about .314. He has committed no errors and has pegged out a few runners with Joe DiMaggio like throws to the plate. Besides, he has stolen home four times, not to mention his other base pilfering feats. Briefly, the Lawrence County shapes up as the sweetest baseball prospect to blossom out of local sandlots in many many moons.

Testimonial planned—In Erie, Sunday, Sailor fans will observe Henry Marshall day, or is it a farewell? Marshall has a host of friends in Erie. His impressive style on the field together with a pleasing personality have won the local lad a host of friends. On Thursday, July 27, Marshall is slated to return to Hillsville where his friends have made elaborate plans for a testimonial dinner. The affair will follow the Erie-Youngstown game carded for the Ohio town. The entire Erie team will be among the guests present. The affair will be staged unless Henry gets the A. A. promotion within the next several days.

Diamond chin shins—Cincy moguls can't find out what's wrong with Johnny Vander Meer. With Vandy pitching any kind of ball, the Rhinelanders would be way out front, probably 15 tussles. The latest experiment is slow movies in the hope of discovering what is wrong with the lad who hurled two perfect tilts in a row. Tom Sheehan, pilot of the Minneapolis Millers, is doing such a good job that he is reportedly slated for a chance in the big show. The way things are going this season, you are bound to see a few new faces next year.

"Chuck" Klein, who recently discarded a Philly uniform in favor of a Pittsburgh Pirate monkey suit, is the talk of the big show. Baseball men can't figure out what effect the shift in atmosphere has had in the sudden court. Right now, there isn't a clutcher in the majors rapping out more hits than Klein.

If Chuck keeps up the pace he can have anything in Pittsburgh. His list of friends is increasing daily. Records show that Frank Crosetti is a poor lead-off man. Last year, the Yankee infielder fanned the breeze no less than 105 times.

Friends Worry Over Whereabouts Of Former Austrian Ruler

By RUSSELL F. ANDERSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON—Associates of Dr. Kurt Von Schuschnigg, ruler of Austria until Hitler swept him into oblivion, today expressed deep concern as to the whereabouts of the former chancellor.

Since his removal recently from the Gestapo headquarters in the Hotel Metropole, Vienna, where he was detained after the Anschluss, nothing has been heard of the former Austrian chieftain.

At the time of his release, it was reported that Schuschnigg, his hair now turned white, would be allowed to live with his wife in a villa in the village of Perchtoldsdorf, near Vienna, presumably under Gestapo surveillance.

But nothing has been heard from him since then, and reports reaching London state that his wife, Countess Fugger, has left the villa where she was awaiting his arrival. It is believed that she has given up hope for an early reunion.

Associates in London believe that if he were free, he would have sent some formal communication. To date, nothing has been heard from him.

Further anxiety has been created over an item in the Berlin "Voelkische Beobachter," Nazi newspaper, to the effect that "Dr. Schuschnigg's whereabouts are unknown."

The Human Side Of The News (By EDWIN C. HILL)

One more the universities have loosed their diploma of torment of eager young job hunters. And once more these get only cold comfort out of the required reading they did in Juvenal. That chuckling old Roman, you may recall, argued deftly that an empty purse offered at least one consolation. It made its owner secure from robbers.

What the current crop of graduates want, of course, is a different kind of security. For the key to that they must do some reading elsewhere. It might be at the university just made public by the Investors Syndicate of Minneapolis.

It offers no royal road to a four ciphered pay check, but it certainly does tell in plain English what the ex-student must have to land a job. And since it is built out of reports from 186 universities and colleges, it should be a dependable guide.

It will be, at least, a great satisfaction to the all-around student. For the report concludes that he, rather than the campus hero or the grind, is most likely to catch the boss' eye.

"Character," says the survey, "is the prime factor."

Of the 186 reporting institutions, 103 stressed character while scholarship came off a poor second with only 66 mentions and athletic prowess a bad third with only 24. The graduate who has worked his way naturally comes in for special praise.

"Such a man," concludes King Merritt, Vice President of the Syndicate, "can be counted on to solve difficulties after graduation."

And he weights this conclusion by pointing to a business executive's opinion sent to N. J. Aiken, Placement Director of the State College of Washington. This executive wrote:

"We must have superior men. We must have men who five and ten years from now will help us solve our problems."

And here's a ray of sunshine for all college men, but particularly for the problem solvers mentioned by Mr. Aiken—Industry holds out its brightest prospects in years, according to the survey.

Prospective bosses are tough. They are taking nothing for granted. Their scouts travel far to get the truth about every job-seeker. But if the final report is favorable the lucky applicant can fairly say he is on his way in high gear.

"Teaching leads in demand for graduates' services," the survey says. But "Engineering graduates are finding many new opportunities."

Business Administration is beating a drum for recruits. Salesmen are needed as always. Even the traditionally overcrowded professions of medicine and law will welcome fresh blood, if it is good. It must be good, but—here's a lead—it must not be high hat. This is because many employers offer starting salaries that are pretty low in comparison with the amount the graduate has invested in his education. But low though the salary is, job-hunters who turn on a Harvard accent to give the boss a chill will get nowhere. After all, it is the boss who has to find even the small sum that goes into the first envelope.

Not all the survey is devoted to the chances of male graduates but for women prospects are not quite so favorable. Placement directors expect only 72 per cent of their women students to find work quickly, as compared with 77 per cent of the men.

Don't Be A MARTYR to Common Surface PIMPLES

The "bitchy" soreness and stinging itch yield amazingly to Resinol Ointment. Being oily, its active medication is held in contact with the irritated spots, aiding faster healing. For careful skin cleansing use mild Resinol Soap.

At all druggists. For sample, write Resinol, 86, Balto., Md.
